POPULATION IN LOCAL GOVERNMENT AREAS

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

30 JUNE 1967

SCOPE This bulletin shows the population in each local government area and statistical division in South Australia at the Census, 30 June 1966 and estimates as at 30 June 1967.

Figures in this bulletin include full-blood Aborigines. Reporting at the 1966 Census was insufficiently precise to enable a reliable dissection of full-blood and half-blood Aborigines to be made, and consequently, the difference between inclusive and exclusive figures (published elsewhere) should not be taken as a valid measure of the Aboriginal population. Census information regarding Aborigines is to be found in a special census publication "The Aboriginal Population (Revised Statement)" issued by the Commonwealth Statistician on 27 November 1967.

The estimated population of South Australia in total is based on the 1966 Census figure, subsequent natural increase and recorded net overseas and interstate migration. Net interstate migration figures are based on recorded transfers of residence under child endowment and Commonwealth electoral procedures. Holiday, business and other short-term movement between States is omitted.

Local government area population estimates are based mainly on changes since the census, in the recorded numbers of private dwellings and changes in occupancy of major hostels and camps.

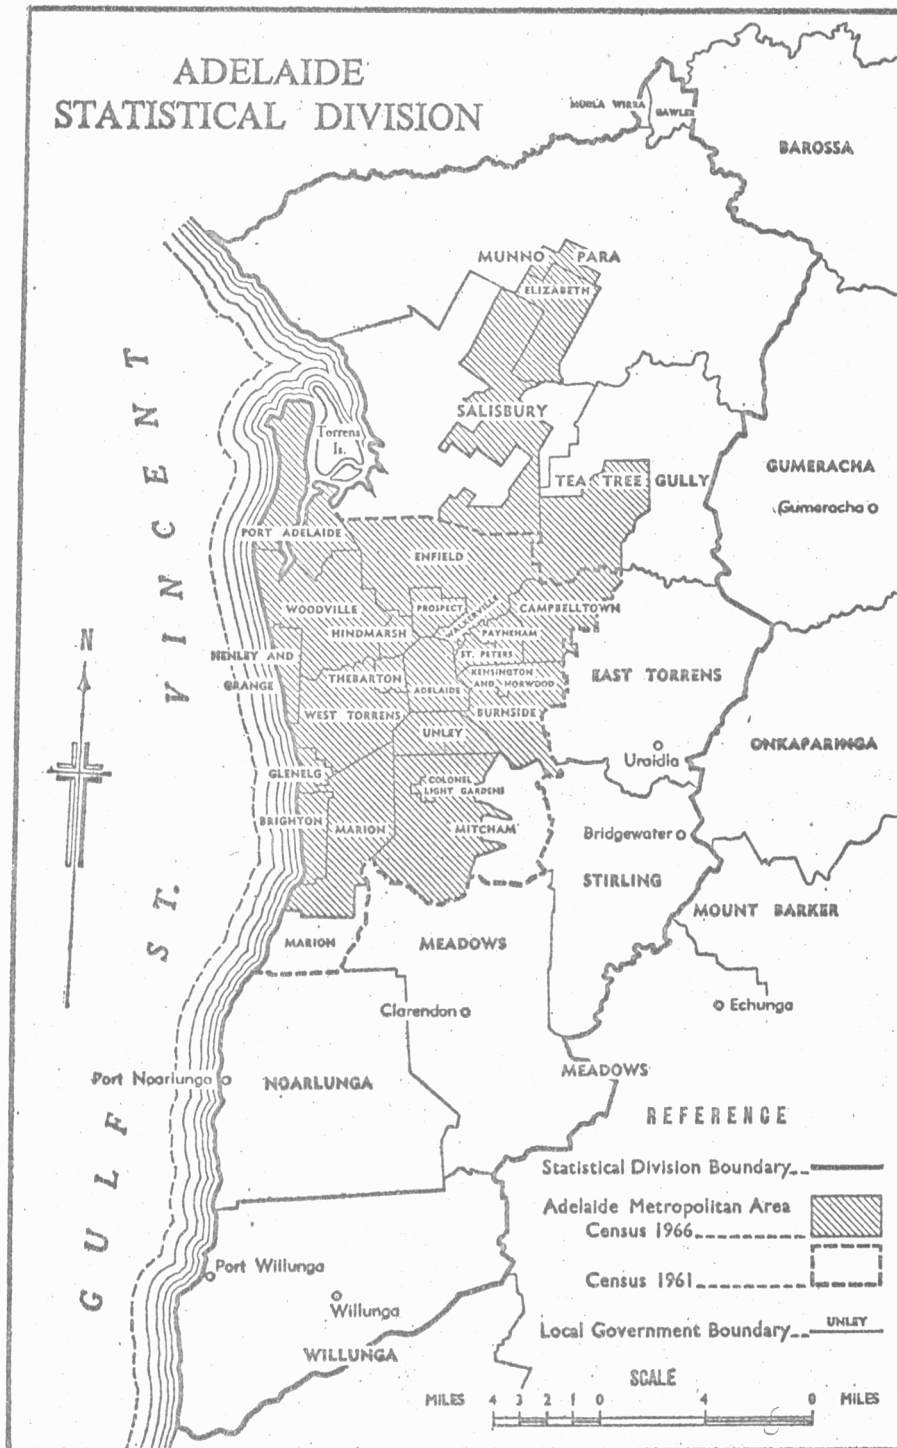

Estimates of local government area populations have generally been rounded to the nearest hundred persons (Adelaide Statistical Division), and to the nearest fifty persons (all other local government areas). Some minor changes in population shown between 30 June 1966 and 30 June 1967, therefore, may be the result of rounding.

As records of interstate and intrastate movements of population are incomplete, inter-censal population estimates are subject to revision after the next census. Because of the limitations mentioned above, estimates for individual local government areas should be regarded as providing a general guide only.

COMMENT It is estimated that in the twelve months ended 30 June 1967 the State population increased by 16,496 persons (1.51%).

The population of the Adelaide Statistical Division increased by approximately 12,500 persons, the largest estimated increases for individual local government areas being approximately 4,900 in Salisbury City, 2,800 in Tea Tree Gully D.C., 1,800 in Noarlunga D.C., and 1,600 in Munno Para D.C.

In areas outside the Adelaide Statistical Division, the greatest increase was an estimated 2,500 persons in the City of Whyalla.

METROPOLITAN AREA

At the 1966 Census new methods were introduced for the delimitation of metropolitan and certain other urban areas. The basic criterion used is population density as applied to Collectors Districts (the smallest geographical units available). A Collectors District with a population density of 500 or more persons per square mile is defined as urban. Contiguous areas with special functions, such as airports, sporting areas and industrial areas which do not meet the density criterion qualify as urban under certain circumstances.

From census to census as urbanisation proceeds, the boundary will move outwards to encompass peripheral development.

The Adelaide Metropolitan Area, defined according to the above criteria, currently contains nearly all of the metropolitan area as defined at the 1961 Census, and in addition, includes the City of Elizabeth, large portions of Salisbury City and Tea Tree Gully District Council, and small parts of East Torrens and Munno Para District Councils (see map).
